Northern Winds Community Band

Did you join band in high school? Well if you did then you could be in this community band lead by Sabrina Brooks. Northern Winds is a group of adult musicians who practice on Thursdays, 6:30-8:30 pm from September to June. New members are always welcome to audition! They play a large variety of music and have fun doing it.

Tantrum

Tantrum are a 3 piece gluten friendly value combo, from fsj, formed in 2019, who love making music art and believe. (like make believe) ...with a relentless beat and harmonies that would make Pythagoras proud they are sure to leave you guessing?

The Ebbs

The Ebbs are an indie-folk band based in central British Columbia, Canada. Their varied influences include folk, rock, soul, bluegrass, and traditional fiddle music. The band is made up of singer-songwriters William Kuklis, Joe Shea, and Dave Schulte, and incorporates the virtuosic Finn Scott-Neff. All renowned musicians and artists in their own right, the band incorporates the multi-instrumental and harmonious vocal talents of the four to create one indulgent sound that can only be described as The Ebbs.

John Lambert

John Lambert is a visual and musical artist of Cree, Carrier, and Metis decent. His artwork has been featured in the head offices for the First Nations Health Authority in Vancouver and Prince George and he is currently working with youth in Fort St. John to create a temporary public art installation.

Locust and Honey

Locusts and Honey is a Fort St John local band comprised of friends that share a love of making music. Our name portrays the kinds of songs we sing – songs that are beautiful and sweet like honey, and songs that are a little more wild like locusts. We don't just play to perform a great show, we hope the songs we sing will lift your spirits and show that you are not alone. We were made for friendship with one another, and whatever you may be facing, we want to shine a light to help get you through!

Rose Prairie Romance

Citing a wide range of influences from Houndmouth and Shakey Graves to Banner Pilot and Tom Petty, the band has a sound that mixes rock, groove and feel into their own distinct musical vibe. They are well known in their local music scene as a band that delivers a consistently entertaining and diverse live set, whether playing fully plugged in or dialling back the volume for an intimate acoustic performance.

Naomi Shore

Naomi Shore has just released her sophomore album 'Stability' which, she has half jokingly categorized as Self Help Songs.

Over the last three years, Shore has overcome her pandemic fuelled identity crisis and broken through her creative insecurities to record and release a brand new record. Naomi has said that these songs were written during some very challenging times over the last few years. "Most of the lyrics on this album started as little affirmations, I was repeating to myself just to get through. I can't speak for all artists but I know a lot of us really struggled with our sense of purpose and belonging when Covid shut everything down. Songwriting is the way I process my lived experience. It is how I find connection and validation. All I can hope for is that these songs will help someone, anyone, feel seen and understood."

Naomi Shore will be heading south from Fort St. John on a few small tours this spring and summer, you can follow her on all social media platforms @NaomiShoreMusic to see the growing list of tour dates and keep up to date with her.

Walker Tompkins

Walker Tompkins is a country singer-songwriter and producer from Fort St. John with over 100,000 streams on Spotify alone and air play on country radio across Canada.

The Carroll Ford Band

Emerging in 2023 with seasoned performers of the Peace Country Music Scene, The Carroll Ford Band performs original Rock 'n' Roll tunes blending a wide range of influences from classic rock, to Motown, and beyond. Their songs feature hook-laden guitars, thumping bass, and powerful drums. The Carroll Ford Band aims to conquer the world, one stage at a time.

Britt A.M.

Britt A.M. is a multi-disciplinary artist based out of Prince George, B.C. on the unceded, traditional territory of the Lheidli T'enneh. Britt brings a punk rock sense of urgency to her music, holding a melodic, guitar-driven net for her carefully crafted lyrics to land.

Accompanied by some of Northern B.C.'s finest musicians, she is a force to be reckoned with onstage and with her band brings a memorable and kinetically-charged performance to every venue they play. Her first full-length, full-band studio album, Psychic Knots (released September 2019), peaked at number 24 on Earshot's National Top 50 Radio, with follow up GOLD (released November 2021) charting in the Earshot National Top Ten, marking an exciting lead up to the release of their latest EP, IMMOLATION, released earlier this year.

Did you know?

The Canadian national anthem was originally created in 1880 and the lyrics were originally only in French.

The english lyrics were not created until 1906 and the song did not become our country's official national anthem until July 1, 1980.
